Children Are Learning New Skills In Fun, Cooperative Atmosphere

by Virginia Beauchamp
Enrichment—adding new experiences and new ideas about what possibilities are waiting in the world around them—that is the central focus of the after-school program for children in Greenbelt Center School. Set up by Dr. John Van Schoonhoven, Center's principal, primarily as a way to meet the needs of children who come to the school from a drug-infested neighborhood in Washington Heights (but open to all children at Center School), the program focuses "about 10%," according to its director, Dr. Jo Anne Favors, on teaching children to recognize and avoid drugs. For these young children, the messages need to be "strong, fast, and short," she says.

The other 90% of the children's time—the more important part, she says—is spent in learning how many interesting things there are to do and what possibilities may exist for the children's lives in the future. It's incredible what so many of these children don't know, she points out.

New Skills

For example, when they were offered the opportunity to play table tennis, most had no idea of the rules for this popular game. Many did not even know that the game had rules. So learning the rules and developing the skills that make the game enjoyable were important new experiences for many of the youngsters.

During the summer, a number of the older children were bused over to the Fair Lanes Bowling Center on U.S. 1 to learn another new game. They found rules there too—and new skills, such as arithmetic (for keeping score) which could be practiced in an atmosphere of fun. The children also learned how to cooperate—how to play as teams. Best of all, at summer's end the district manager for the franchise held a bowling party for all the children.

Various sports, including basketball, are an important component of the program. During the summer, 25 children went regularly to the swimming pool next door, where each child got to swim at least once a week. At the summer's end, an olympic program was held to showcase the student athletes, with prizes for winners donated by a group of black attorneys with the U.S. Department of Justice. Every child attending also got a prize to take home.

Clubs

Other activities have been developed in clubs. There was a club for cooking, another for jazz dancing. Last spring, a drama group entertained the whole crowd, including many parents, with a play the children developed. This year they hone to work on television productions and prepare videos to watch themselves in action. Another group works with arts and crafts.

Dr. Favors particularly stresses the importance in this program of ways to learn about the contributions of black people, a topic usually omitted in conventional school classes. She is concerned that the black children have their imaginations stirred about possibilities for their own lives. Thus they participated in a program on black cowboys, for example, and another on black music.

Surprisingly, perhaps, a number of the boys elected to join the cooking club, which is a good place to learn things about nutrition. During the summer a group of children were bused to the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center, off Soil Conservation Road, to plant their own garden. There a professional from the farm helped them to prepare the soil and do the planting. They learned a great deal about the roles of water, sun and soil in helping a garden to flourish. This fall Dr. Favors plans to hold a harvesting festival. These experiences, she hopes, will open up career ideas for some of the children within the food industry.

Field trips have been another way to offer enriching experiences to children in the program. During the summer they visited the Patuxent Wildlife Center and the Oxon Hill Children's Farm. They also held a picnic at Greenbelt Lake.

Staffing

Dr. Favors directs a staff this fall of four psychological counselors, to whom she hopes to add two more; nine activity assistants; and a person who serves as secretary and health aide. In addition, she emphasizes the importance of volunteers—both as role models and for the enrichment offerings they can make. Any one's hobby could, of course, make a rewarding activity to share with these children who have so much to learn.

She is encouraged that the black lawyers' group plans again to participate—in various ways not yet worked out—some perhaps as tutors, some as mentors, some leading special activities. They are also providing books on black experience. The nearby 4-H council will also help by making curricular materials available and by providing resource people on science projects, on survival skills, and on handling money.

The after-school assistants are also meeting regularly with the classroom teachers at Center School, trying to coordinate between them.

Ed Putens and Roy Dahl File As City Council Candidates

With his formal filing on September 13, the last incumbent member of the Greenbelt City Council, Edward Putens, joined his colleagues in announcing his intention to run for re-election. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld, who had announced previously, has also filed officially as a candidate. Mayor Pro Tem Joseph (Joe) Isaacs and councilmembers Thomas X. (Tom) White and Antoinette (Toni) Bram are also candidates.

Three challengers have announced—Ruth Kastner, Konrad Herling, and Roy Dahl, like Putens a resident of Greenbelt East. Of this trio, Herling has not yet officially filed as a candidate. Dahl's biography will be printed in next week's paper.

Putens Biography

Edward Putens is completing his fourth term on the Greenbelt City Council. He has been a resident of Greenbelt for 21 years, living in Charlestowne North Apartments for 10 years, Windsor Green townhouses for nine years and Greenbrook single family homes for two years. He and his wife, Becky, are raising three children—Kim, 20; Ryan, 10; and Amy, 8. He was born in Hazelton, Pennsylvania and later moved to Baltimore.

Putens has been employed by the Federal Government for 16 years and is currently working

Meet Miss Greenbelt 1989

by Leta Mach

Alicia Derin, Miss Greenbelt 1989, was selected by the pageant judges Sunday evening, September 3, culminating the contestants' summer of working together, meeting people and enjoying various activities. "Whether you win or not, it's a wonderful experience," declared Alicia.

Alicia is a 16-year-old senior at Eleanor Roosevelt Senior High School, where she is a second year varsity cheerleader. She is a member of the Spanish honor society and president of the Young Judaea Club. She has also been named to Who's Who Among American High School Students.

As a swimmer, she is active on the Greenbelt swim team and the Eleanor Roosevelt swim team, where she was one of only two freshmen to letter in the sport. This past summer she was a lifeguard at the Greenbelt pool and also taught swimming lessons.

Teaching is an activity she finds rewarding because of the growth she could see in the students. In addition to teaching swimming, she also teaches third grade students at the Karp Family Hebrew School. She would eventually like to become an elementary school teacher or an actress.

She has both acted and directed children's theater and school plays. This experience and interest revealed itself during the public speaking portion of the pageant as she was asked whether schools should censor student newspapers. She feels very strongly that they should not and tried to present that point when she replied to her question. She explained that the public speaking portion of the pageant was her favorite part because she feels comfortable about speaking to groups.

Her first duty as Miss Greenbelt was to hand out the parade trophies. With pageant chair Cheri Gainor, she will also visit the Miss America Pageant.

Runners-up

Abigail Boldt was first runner-up.

Heather Lundberg, also a junior at Eleanor Roosevelt Senior High, was second runner-up. She enjoys music and chorus as well as acting. Recently she received honorable mention in the Write-A-Book contest for her story, "Barney the Beaver."

Susan Belisle, a 17-year-old senior at Eleanor Roosevelt Senior High, was the third runner-up. She is a member of the Women's Choir which competed in Mexico at the Heritage Festival and received a gold medal. During the summer, she worked at the Patuxent Wildlife Research Center.

Shannon Grady tied for the pageant's Talent award. She is a junior at Eleanor Roosevelt, where she is a junior varsity cheerleader and a member of the

Alternative Solutions

Traffic is becoming our biggest problem. The highway project for the Baltimore-Washington Parkway interchange at Greenbelt Road is scheduled to begin construction next year. The current design calls for moving the current northbound ramp at Greenbelt Road a little more north so that cars do not back up on the parkway as they exit. It will create the need for an additional light on Greenbelt Road but the current intersection will become two "T" intersections. This plan involves cutting down many Greenbelt trees and has an adverse impact on the Greenbriar Community Center.

The main problem with this plan is that traffic heading north on the Parkway and exiting east on Greenbelt Road (this includes some beltway traffic into Greenbelt east) will first go under Greenbelt Road and then must recross (make a left from the exit ramp) Greenbelt Road. This is a problem because Greenbelt Road is very heavily congested and is only going to get worse. This section of Greenbelt Road is the only connection from the east parts of Greenbelt to the Beltway, Parkway and future Metro station.

There are two alternative solutions, both involving the same concept. If the traffic from the northbound Parkway onto eastbound Greenbelt Road exits on the south side of Greenbelt Road, then it would not have to recross Greenbelt Road. This would help with the traffic problem on Greenbelt Road in one of two ways. The cheapest, simplest, but not as safe solution is to put the ramp at grade level and allow traffic from the Parkway onto the northbound Beltway to merge through the existing Beltway traffic. The traffic experts need to say if this is feasible from a safety point of view. The better (more expensive) alternative is to build a ramp over the Beltway to the northbound Parkway ramp. Both the Parkway and Greenbelt Road are above grade and this ramp would provide a safe exit.

Greenbelt needs to unite on this matter, which is controlled at the federal level but which will have a large impact on Greenbelt. We must work together to save the trees and keep our own roads usable.

Marvelous Parade

Congratulations to the Greenbelt Parade Committee! This year's parade was marvelous. The marching bands, various dance clubs, floats, and ever faithful kazoo band were colorful and exciting. Kudos to all involved.

There were two participants, however, that seemed out of sync with the rest of the parade. First, the Almos go-carts. Their blatant disregard for safe, sane driving techniques was hazardous to the crowd and sent the wrong message to youngsters (future drivers) that driving fast and recklessly is not only acceptable but fun.

Second, the Golden Age Club. The senior citizens aboard the Washington Post float waved happily from a colorful dais as they proceeded along the parade route. The figure on the scooter in front of them was fine too, except for his "Uncle Tom" type mask. Unkind caricatures can deeply hurt and offend people, especially children, and belong in the past, not in Greenbelt's 1989 Labor Day Celebration.

Greg and Katie Pugliese

Gorilla Mask

The Greenbelt Golden Age Club, Inc. regrets the misconception that a Halloween gorilla mask worn by one of its members in the Labor Day Parade was thought to be blackface. A slur to any ethnic group was not intended or implied.

It is unfortunate, with so much racial tension in the world, that a few people construed the innocent Halloween gorilla mask as something to incite racial overtones.

The Greenbelt Golden Age Club, Inc. is open to all persons age 60 and over, regardless of race, color or creed, and we are proud to have such diversity in our Club.

Corresponding Secretary,

No Signs

Just a brief suggestion to the pizza businesses who are having a problem with robberies of their drivers. Take the sign off the top of the cars. They may as well have a sign on top of the car that reads, "Please Rob Me!"

I was in law enforcement for 23 years and I know from experience that, sooner or later, one of these young drivers is going to be seriously injured or killed. The signs advertising the businesses just aren't worth it.

An Appreciation

Every Monday morning
As the summer came and went—
We'd gather at the swimming pool
For two hours well spent!

We'd line up on the concrete deck
Until we heard the call—
That Rose was ready to begin—
The exercise for all!

On tip toes, we'd twist and turn
Reach hard up toward the sky—
Swing your arms—Rotate your hips—
Gosh! How the time would fly!

And then, into the water
A new exercise to do—
All of us felt better
When our exercise was through!

We want to thank you, Rose
For all the time you spent with us—
The result of your efforts
Will always be a plus!

The Members of the Senior Exercise Class

THANKS

It was a wonderful season for the Monday Seniors Fitness and Swim Group. Thank you, dear people for the gift certificate to Woodies.

Thank you Karen for your presentation of a dinner certificate to Jaspers.

I would also like to thank the able lifeguards—Jimmy, Scotty, Rob and associates—for making it a pleasant season at the Greenbelt pool.

Looking forward to next year!

Retired Senior Volunteer (RSVP) THANKS

The Board and members of Citizens for Greenbelt extend a big hand for Rick Metree, Labor Day Festival chairman, whose dedication during the event was matched by his modesty in the aftermath. And "thanks" to the city, to the residents, to the weather, and to our intrepid volunteers at the booth.

Resident Consultants

Council should listen to City Planning and Development Coordinator Celia Wilson in her defense of not hiring an outside consultant for the lake park. I agree with her that the park's "use and theme" are well developed. As to the question of how much more development should be added to the lake park, my view and that of those I have talked with is none; no more development. The residents, especially those nearest to the lake, are the best consultants on the lake park. Council should remember the promises they made not to develop the lake any further in order to get our votes. Council members should save the "outside consultant" fees and their integrity.

CITY NOTES

Cleaning up after the Labor Day Festival required the combined strength of the street, special details, and parks crews.

The street crew also cleaned curb/gutters, and storm drains.

The special details crew continued painting traffic control lines and the parks crew mowed lawns and maintained ballfields.

The horticulturist crew watered and maintained flower beds as well as removing four trees from Indian Springs Park.

The Special Details Crew and the General Crew both worked on setting up the Labor Day Carnival.

The Auto Shop is currently preparing the tow truck and the crew pick up that the city recently purchased for city service.

Demand for the Greenbelt Connection is steady but construction on Greenbelt Road has caused delays.

Sandi Warren, a recent graduate of Eleanor Roosevelt, received the Community Service Award for collecting the most money for the pageant's community project. This year the participants helped the Make-a-Wish Foundation by collecting over $500. Sandi will be attending Prince Georges Community College this year on a partial athletic scholarship. She has received numerous softball awards.

Rosalie Kowmas was voted Miss Congeniality by the other pageant participants. She is a 16-year-old sophomore at Eleanor Roosevelt, where she is a member of the varsity softball team and statistician for the varsity football team.

Pageant chair Cheri Gainor was very pleased with this year's event, explaining that "The girls worked really well together as a group and helped each other." The participation included seminars on skin care and make-up, hair care and wardrobe as well as rehearsals every week. In keeping with the pageant's nautical theme, the girls visited the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis. Midshipmen were their escorts on Sunday night.

What does your family have in common with Clara Barton, Thomas Jefferson, Dr. Albert Schweitzer and Beatrix Potter? A lot—if yours is the kind of family that enjoys the fellowship of free minds; people from richly diverse backgrounds; people who respect each other and themselves. A lot—if your family feels that social justice and equality aren't just words but require action. A lot—if you believe that what you think and feel, what you meditate and pray for, can be acted on daily. Today, the faith of Susan B. Anthony, Alexander Graham Bell, Whitney Young, Joseph Priestley and Ralph Waldo Emerson is practiced by 1000 congregations across the continent by all kinds of families. Maybe it's something you'd like to explore. Maybe not. Think about it. If you would like to visit a Unitarian Universalist congregation this week, welcome!

Apartments, Audit Reports Discussed by GHI Board

by Sandy Smith

The Greenbelt Homes, Inc., Board of Directors at its regular meeting on August 17 reviewed a report by the audit committee regarding parliamentary procedures at the annual meeting, the use of credit cards, and a statement of conflict of interest in those matters where board members abstain from voting because of a potential conflict. The board heard second-quarter staff reports. Earlier the GDC Board of Directors met, clearing the way for renovation of the GDC apartments. This will make them the "premier apartments of this type" in Greenbelt, according to Jay Friedman, head of Contract and Technical Services.

GDC Apartments

The major renovation in the GDC apartments will involve replacement of boilers and installation of heat pumps to provide both heating and air conditioning to the units. Although the heat pumps cannot be installed until after the heating system is in place, they should be operating by mid-June.

Among the other improvements are replacing building entry doors, converting electrical service from fuses to circuit breakers, and installing rear entry lighting. To improve security, residents will now have a buzzer system to approve access to the building by visitors. The exterior of the buildings will be painted and roofs repaired. Gutters and downspouts will be replaced. The board deferred a decision on expanding the available parking at this time. The total cost of the project is estimated at $285,000.

The board next turned to a discussion of financing for the project and explored these options: self-financing or long-term, fixed-rate loan. The board found self-financing the most appealing and directed management to pursue this approach and develop a detailed proposal. Under self-financing, GHI would finance GDC rehabilitation under terms advantageous to both GHI and GDC.

With these improvements, residents can expect a rent increase. The Board directed management to provide as much notice as possible to residents and consider phasing in the rent increase, if appropriate. In response to questions on rents in comparable units in the area, management replied that GDC rents were uniformly lower. There is a waiting list and low turnover on the GDC apartments. All in all, management felt that the GDC apartments were a good buy for tenants.

Audit Committee Report

The audit committee reviewed its three reports that have been submitted recently to the board. The first dealt with the issue of a recount of a close vote at the May annual meeting and the more general question of operating rules at the meeting. The committee suggested that the board might want to take some action based on these issues: (1) There is some question of compliance with Robert's Rules of Order regarding a recount of a vote. (2) If a member requests a recount on a close vote, in the interest of fairness, should this be granted regardless of compliance with the specific provisions of Robert's Rules? (3) Do these questions cast any doubt on the bylaw change actually approved at the annual meeting in the vote under question? It was pointed out that there are many editions of Robert's Rules of Order and that a specific edition should be cited for the meeting. Director Ray McCawley reminded members that at past meetings appropriate sections of Robert's have been available and it was recommended that the meeting begin with the adoption of the parliamentary rules to be followed. It was decided that there would undoubtedly be more discussion and recommendations before the next annual meeting.

The second recommendation seemed already in effect when board member Andrea Haslinger excused herself on voting on an approval of a three-year sublease of her unit during a three-year overseas job assignment. The audit committee recommended that board members who excuse themselves from voting on issues which may be of potential or apparent conflict should indicate for the record why they are abstaining.

A third report from the audit committee outlined the check writing procedures and use of the GHI credit card, originally obtained for travel expenses. The audit committee outlined an expanded use of the credit card and noted that past boards have not established a policy on credit card use and that the bylaws are not specific. The committee recommended that the policy be reviewed and modified if necessary to ensure appropriate use and documentation of that use.

Heading for the Shore?

Beware of the Mosquitoes

Although no human cases have been reported in the state since 1982, the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene is urging people heading for the Eastern Shore to protect themselves from mosquito bites in light of cases of Eastern Equine Encephalitis (EEE) reported in horses. At least two cases have been confirmed and another 29 cases are suspected in horses on the Eastern Shore since July.

EEE is spread by mosquitos to birds, horses, and rarely to humans. Humans can only get the disease from mosquito bites, not from contact with infected people, horses, or birds. Symptoms in people include fever, confusion, headaches, and occasionally convulsions. Death may result.

People should reduce exposure to mosquitoes by using effective repellents, avoiding the outdoors at peak mosquito times (dusk), keeping screens in good repair, received 48 visitors to the office, and made 126 field visits in the community. Some 28 formal complaints were registered with the department and all were resolved. A new member orientation social was held in April and 17 of the 42 new members who joined during the quarter attended.

The maintenance department received 4,162 calls this quarter, with the majority 3,804 for general work orders. Response time is currently two days or less except for special programs such as porches, decks, and trees.

The Fiscal Department provided a report on computerization and Contracts and Technical Services reported a total of 11 pre-purchase orientations conducted for prospective members, with a total of 104 people in attendance.

Other

The board agreed to meet with the Finance Committee in the near future and set meeting dates for upcoming months to avoid holidays and the ECHO conference, in late October. On a final note, Joe Whalen of GHI reports that the GHI Greenhorns softball team ended a splendid season with a 6 win-3 loss record.

T-shirts left over are on sale in the Novel Endings bookstore at the Greenbelt Library.

Tournament Proceeds Donated to MDA

Clete Mehringer and James Greer presented the Muscular Dystrophy Association with a check for $5,333 during the Jerry Lewis Telethon on Labor Day. The money was raised during the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club MDA spring soccer tournament. The tournament was organized by Greenbelt resident Marie Hite, whose son, Petey has been diagnosed as having Duchenne Muscular dystrophy. Marie also participated in the Jerry Lewis Telethon over the Labor Day weekend. is treasurer of the local Muscular Dystrophy Association board and organizes fund-raising activities in local schools. Petey, a student at Center School and a member of the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club, is the association goodwill ambassador for Prince George's County.

Over the Labor Day weekend, the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club raised an additional $1,074 for MDA by selling Dove bars at the Festival.

The 2nd Annual Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club MDA Spring Soccer Tournament is tentatively planned for the weekend of May 18-20, 1990.

Chamber Encourages School Involvement

The Prince Georges Chamber of Commerce has issued a request to its 1,500 business members to encourage their employees with school-aged children to become more actively involved with their children's education. The Chamber is also encouraging members to provide time-off for employees during the school year to participate in parent-teacher conferences, open houses and other school-related functions, and is supporting the Partners in Education program with the Prince Georges Public Schools. Through the program, businesses "adopt" individual schools to provide career information, role models, anti-drug activities and tutoring. In April 1989, the Chamber co-sponsored a Partnership Breakfast with the Superintendent's Advisory Council for Business & Industry which netted 30 additional business partners for the program.

Comets Score in Tourney

Totally eclipsing their previous performances, the Greenbelt Comets took the field in a very tough bracket of the Journal Soccer Tournament's 1976 Boys division and emerged victorious. Besting the Virginia Blackwatch/Loudon Lancers (3-2) and the Spotsylvania Hotspurs (3-0), they tied their rival Calverton Sharpshooters (1-1), and suffered their only loss to the Anne Arundel Strikers (1-5).

Etim Edim led the Comets with three goals, on assists from Reuben Jackson, Miguel Pereira and Jason Harbin. Pereira scored directly on a penalty kick and on an arching corner kick, and Jackson, a new member of the team, also scored two unassisted goals. Harbin, excelling at keeper, capitalized on his only chance at striker and scored on an assist from Edim. Noteworthy were the two "unassisted saves" of fleet-footed fullback Raphael Mingo and the dominating mid-field play of Robert Ramirez.

Overall, the Comets came away confident in their best effort to date, ready to move into NCSL Division III for their first time since they joined the league in 1987.

Since the team's foundation, Springhill Lake has been its principal sponsor. Special thanks to Mr. Beall, Mr. Horton and Ms. Schwarten for their continued enthusiasm and support of this talented youth soccer team.

Hazardous Waste Disposal

According to information from the City of Greenbelt, the following items are considered hazardous wastes and should not be placed in or with regular refuse: poisons, acids, caustics, insecticides, explosives, paints and other dangerous materials. Anyone having such hazardous wastes for disposal should contact the County Environmental Health Agency at 794-6800. The collection, removal and disposal of such wastes is subject to the instructions and approval of this Agency.

Bill Enhances Integrity Of Master Plan Process

A bill to enhance the integrity of the Master Plan process has been adopted by the Prince Georges County Council. In an 8-1 vote on Tuesday September 5, Council adopted CB-68, a proposal of Council Member Richard J. Castaldi.

The bill enacts a postponement period to halt the processing of zoning applications. Beginning with the Planning Board's adoption of the Master Plan. Prior to the adoption of CB-68, this postponement period did not occur until the initiation of the Sectional Map Amendment by the District Council, thereby undermining the integrity of the newly adopted Master Plan.

Castaldi first presented CB-68 to the County in 1987 when he noted that there were a number of problems associated with the Master Plan process. "Both the Planning Board and the District Council faced the dilemma of making recommendations on various zoning applications based on the old outdated Master Plan, although the new Master Plan had already been adopted by the Planning Board. The Planning Board and District Council were restricted by law from using the new Master Plan until it received final approval by the District Council," he explains.

Castaldi contends that, prior to the adoption of CB-68, developers sought zoning changes in an attempt to circumvent the efforts of the Citizens Advisory Committee, and the implementation of the newly adopted Master Plan. . . .

Castaldi notes that "by initiating the Master Plan postponement period at the point of Planning Board adoption, the District Council will be able to delay land use decisions until the newly adopted Master Plan is approved. In addition, CB-68 will reduce the processing time for Master Plan and Sectional Map Amendments by as much as six years.

He is described as a white male in his 30s, 5'8", medium build, light brown hair. He was last seen wearing a white long-sleeve dress shirt, brown slacks, a light maroon tie and brown tinted sunglasses.

Robbery

Two men entered the Shell Food Mart, 8000 block of Cherrywood Lane, on September 6 and when the employee rang up a sale, one of the men displayed a knife and demanded money while the other acted as a lookout. County's Recycling Plans Progressing on Schedule

Prince Georges County has submitted on schedule its preliminary recycling plan to the State as required under the Maryland Recycling Act of 1988.

Under State law, the county is required to implement a recycling plan by January 1, 1994, to reduce 20 percent of the county's solid waste stream. The county has adopted a local voluntary solid waste recycling initiative. The county's voluntary program has a goal to recycle 25 percent of the waste stream by 1995, 30 percent by 1997, and 35 percent by 1999. If the goals are not achieved voluntarily, mandatory requirements could be enacted.

The county has also adopted a ten-year solid waste management plan that provides for the establishment of materials recovery facilities to process mixed recyclables and commercial waste materials into marketable commodities. It also provides for the expansion of the Sandy Hill Landfill and establishing a facility for composting yard wastes.

SENIORS' SOFTBALL

by Jerry Conway

The Greenbelt Senior Citizen Slow Pitch Softball Team participated in the Eighth Annual Penn Hills Senior Softball World Series Qualifying Tournament in Penn Hills, Pennsylvania, September 1-3. They competed against the all-star teams of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, Rhode Island, Michigan, West Virginia, New York and Indiana.

Team members Jim McGann, Al Gieger, Steve Illar, Al Beard, Ken Knorr, Bill Grennan, Jerry Conway, Ed Marr, Jack Fawsett, Andy Feeney and Burt Kerr played six games in this series.

Mike Burchick played with a Virginia team in the 65 plus age group. Jim McGann, Al Beard and Steve Illar each hit two or more home runs while our other players scored triples, doubles and singles. Unfortunately, we left too many on base, and we had an overly tired team of 11 players against teams with 15 to 18 players in all six games. We played close games, the first of which was 10 innings.

All of the thousands of players participating in the softball world series tournament lived by the slogan: You don't stop playing when you grow old, you grow old because you stop playing. Everybody learned from this experience. We hope to enter earlier in the qualifying tournaments next year and get Greenbelt in the winner's circle.

Our team members appreciated the traveling expenses provided by the contributions of: Greenbelt Co-op, Greenbelt American Legion, Greenbelt Variety Store, Greenbelt Federal Credit Union, Mellon Bank and Sovran Bank.

Greenbelt CARES

Judye Hering sent letters to principals, Guidance Department chairpersons, and PTSA presidents of 18 schools in the Greenbelt area, informing them of CARES' tutoring program. Teachers refer parents to CARES when students experience difficulty with subjects in school.

Paul Fischetti was a guest speaker for the Peer Counseling Class started this year at Eleanor Roosevelt High School. He discussed Greenbelt CARES services and some counseling techniques.

Risa Witrogen recently joined the Wednesday Night Family Clinic counseling staff. Currently enrolled in the M.A. program in Community Counseling at the University of Maryland, she also works as a Graduate Assistant for the Stamp Student Union Art Center.

Greenbelt CARES' summer session of the tutoring program helped a record number of students. During this summer, 25 young people were tutored in a variety of subjects, including English, reading, composition and spelling, social studies, science and math. CARES continues recruiting tutors, and is pleased that 34 tutors are returning this fall.

Listening To Your Body's Language

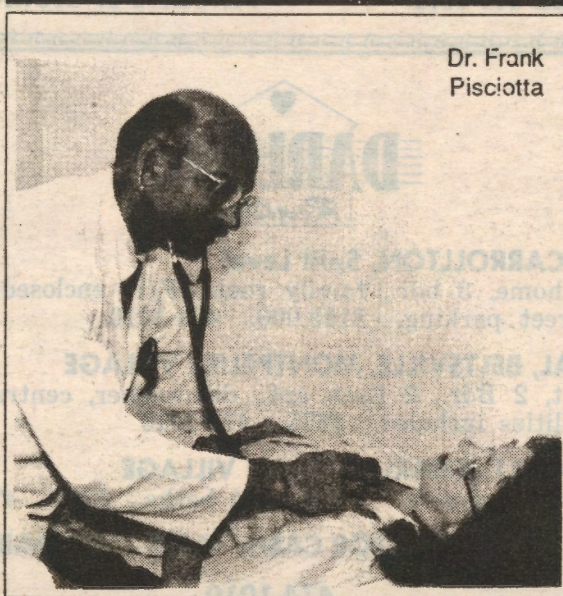

The human body is often likened to a machine, but there is no other machine that functions so effectively and efficiently. Even the seemingly simple act of eating requires enormous coordination of systems within. When something goes wrong, the body often sends out signals to warn us.

According to Dr. Frank Pisciotta, symptoms are the body's way of telling us that something needs attention. He states, "There are many signs that can give one a head start on potentially serious medical problems. The key is to be aware of what your body is trying to tell you."

"Common-sense preventive measures are extremely important to one's health. Eat slowly and chew your food well. Have plenty of high-fiber foods in your diet, drink alcohol only in moderation, don't smoke cigarettes and be aware of changes. If you have doubts, don't take chances. See your doctor. Ignoring symptoms for long periods of time may wind up to be very costly in terms of your health. Listen when your body talks to you."

Health Screening Questionnaire

This questionnaire is an educational guide and is not meant to substitute for a visit to your doctor. For additional information, check with your doctor, or call Dr. Pisciotta's office at 345-4111.

JOE'S TIPS OF THE WEEK

Hello Again:

A question arose this week: how can a block expansion plug (commonly known as a freeze plug) go bad when the temperature is above freezing? Well, here's what happens. Cooling system components deteriorate and contaminants form inside the hoses, especially if you prolong anti-freeze flushes to biyear intervals. The contaminants in the hoses fall into the bottom of the engine block because they are heavier than the coolant. A build-up starts. This buildup of contamination gets behind the block plug and starts to corrode it from the inside. Thus, it starts to leak and seep.

For this type of problem, it is very important that a proper cooling system preventive maintenance schedule be adhered to. Also, to take care of a build-up of contamination, most engines have engine block drains. This aids in proper engine flushing by letting the contamination out, since the drains are located at the lower portion of the cooling water jackets. Once cleaned to the best you can, close up all drains and refill with antifreeze.

Also, don't forget to clean out the coolant recovery bottle mounted off to the side. This is probably also contaminated and can reintroduce contamination if left unwashed.

Till next time
